

10/519954
DT12 Rec'd PCT/PTO 31 DEC 2004

SUBSTITUTE SPECIFICATION & CLAIMS

ANTI-PENETRATION FLEXIBLE COMPOSITE MATERIAL

Abstract

The present invention relates to an anti-penetration flexible composite material, comprising a series of ballistic fibres arranged on one or more overlying layers, in which at least one portion of said fibres is impregnated with a resin or a polymer in the form of a viscous or visco-elastic liquid.